5M MANNEY WHISTON ON THE WAR TO THE TOTAL OF THE TOTAL OF

We, the Senior Class of 1937, do dedicate our annual to Mr. Gerald R. Andrews in appreciation of his cooperation in helping to make our project a success.

YOUR IDEALS

The youth of today when it becomes the active citizenship of the nation--will be the most tremendous and most rapidly moving force, for either good or bad, that society has ever produced. What this oncoming generation will do to and with American citizenship will be determined, almost entirely, by what is done now in setting up high ideals which will develop into habits and form Christian character.

Ideals have molded many lives. You have seen the influence about you. Ideals have meant much to you in your life. You have held to them, sacrificed and worked to reach them.

One should formulate for his ultimate goal ideals which are high and difficult to reach. The failure to reach one's ideals should not discourage the attempt to reach them. The high quality of all your ideals will determine your achievement in growth of character.

Some people believe that a person must do as the world does. Flexible as things of life may be there are certain fundamentals which your own good common sense must reveal to you. One can safely say, have high ideals and follow them.

Nothing is so valuable and nothing so promising in improving one's character as having high ideals.

We, the class of 1937 entered W. H. S. with an enrollment of forty in 1933. Thirty-eight came back as Sophomores. Thirty-four Jolly Juniors entered in 1935 and finally twenty-seven are left to graduate.

We only hope the future will be as pleasant as these last four years have been. We have enjoyed the companionship of our teachers and classmen in both work and play.

We hope we're leaving pleasant memories in the minds of the underclassmen.

PLOT

Miss Priscilla Carter bought the old Hobgood property in the Osarks Mountains for the purpose of getting her two nieces away from what she calls fortune-hunter boy friends.

Later the boys arrive and to keep their identity unknown they disguise as ghosts, beleiving they can scare the servants in persuading Miss Priscilla into leaving the house.

Bluebeard Bronson, the Headless Phantom and Old Darius Krupp add to the blood curtling apparition and wild screams. But it all turns out O. K. in the end.

OUR SENIOR CLASS

We soon have to leave all the sorrow and joys, But we'll not go without first making a noise. We'll tell the whole world of the fun we have had And that in Waterloo High School, we've been happy and sad.

Some will travel, I suppose, after school days are o'er, Some will study and work and continue to do more. But we know of no class in all of these years, That can be compared with our Seniors thats here.

There's George, our president, our leader of course, And Kline, a good scout, who never is cross. And Doc Sebert, whom, sometimes is called Duke, He's tall, he's slender, we all think him cute.

Then there's Evelyn Hefty, she's the fun of our class, She's going to star, you can imagine her, I guess. She laughs and she jollies most of the time, Mr. Overmeyer thinks he'll scold her sometime.

And Lena Myers, she's the smart one in here, She studies and works, with never a fear. With typing and history - she's handy at that, She's sweet and friendly - and will always stand pat.

Then Geraldine Dixon, well she takes the cake, I don't think there's a study that girl couldn't take. She doesn't need to study - she has it right there, You'll find her a good sport - to have anywhere.

Oh! Yes, that reminds me - ther's Tuffy to get,
There isn't a one, doesn't like him, I'll bet.
He teases and abuses, all the girls in the class,
But we laugh and just take it - though it's hard to let pass.

Then the one's that jumps and gets about lots, Is the Newcomer Twins, for which things are tops. They laugh and they joke and don't worry a bit, Wherever they go, it's to make a big hit.

Oh! My goodness, ther's Margaret - with never a kick, In Waterloo High - she likes to play tricks. She likes to dance and have a good time, But when she works - she's there to a rhyme.

Of course this is not all of this glorious class, But to make this much longer would be tiresome, I guess. So you'll just have to see us - on some coming day, To determine whether or not, we're all that I say.

WHS WINDOW

4310 E. Washinton Blvd. Cincinnati, Ohio December 3, 1945

Dear Annamae:

I took the advice of the advertisements saying, "See America First," and while on my tour I saw many of the members of the Class of '37.

At Chicago I went to a little tea room to get a bite to eat. To my surprise I learned that Wilma Gafken was the proprietor. She told me that she had been operating it for about five years. She was engaged to a Well-known G-man, but he was killed in an attempt to break up a gang of racketeers.

That evening Wilma and I went to see the new picture, "You, the Moon, and I," just recently released by Warner Brothers, starring the new radio and screen commedians, Evelyn Hefty and Wayne Kerns. I laughed so much that I thought I'd never be able to laugh again. Kernsie acts just like he used to high school, if not crazier.

A few days later I went to Des Moines, Iowa. Picking up the "Des Moines Times," edited by George Hire, I saw a piece entitled, "Mayor Sebert Meets Famous Aviatrix at City Airport." Mayor Sebert! Could it be "Doe" Sebert, I wondered? I hadn't heard anything about him since we graduated in '37 but I happened to remember reading in the paper that Des Moines had the youngest mayor in the history of that city. Not being particularly interested in mayors I neglected to read the rest of the piece, until later. Then upon reading the article further I learned that it was "Doc" and that the "Famed Aviatrix" was "Bonnie" James. I knew that was what she wanted to be, but I was surprised anyway. I guess I had better read my news papers a little better and find out some things about the folks I used to know.

From Des Moines, I went to Yellow Stone National Park. Jack Horn has been a guide there for six years now. He said that he likes his work very much. He wanted to be a forest ranger, but they didn't have a position for him then so they gave him a job as a guide.

Going to Seattle by plane I met our old friend Martha Bolinger. She was the stewardess of the plane. In Seattle, I received a telephone call one afternoon. It was from Geraldine Dixon. She is finishing her training in the Good Samaritan Hospital there. It was her evening off so she came over to my hotel room and we talked for hours. Running out of subject matter we tuned in on Otto McDonald's "Hit Parade." He took Bing Crosby's place as America's most popular crooner. As a guest star he presented Derwood Smith the modern Robert Taylor.

At Globe, Arizona where I went when I left Seattle, I saw Rachel Smith, who has established a mission school there. Harry Johnson is a real-estate agent in Globe, and he seems to be quite prosperous. Wishing to see the sights of the city I telephoned the "Globe Site Seeing Company." The guide who showed me around was none other than Carrol Leas.

I chartered a plane, of which George Friend was piolt, from Globe to Eagle Pass, Texas on the Rio Grande. Donald BeVier and his orchestra "The Blues Chasers" entertain at a very popular night club in the city of Eagle Pass.

After spending a few days in Eagle Pass I went to Nashville. DeLoss Crooks and Bill Holman own and operate a large taxi cab concern in Nashville. While there I attended the W.S.M. "Grand Ol' Opera "the leading star being Helen Imler.

N. W.H.S. W.H.S.

Going to Palm Beach, Florida, whom do you think I met the very first thing? None other than Earl Kline and Margaret Fee Kline, who were on their second honeymoon. He and Margaret were married the first time about five years ago, but they agreed to disagree and Margaret got a divorce. Three months ago they both began teaching at Waterloo High. Earl is the athletic coach, and Margaret is the Orchestra and Band Director. Resuming old acquaintances they again decided to venture out upon the Sea of Matrimony.

From Palm Beach I went to New York City. Visiting the Art Museum I came upon a very beautiful oil painting by the former Helen Newcomer, now the wife of an officer in King George VI personal body guard.

Taking a bus to Philadelphia, I met Karl Starkey, who is a traveling salesman. He said that business had been rather bad, but he expected it to pick up a little later on.

I returned to Cincinnati by plane. When I started on my trip I left my home in charge of one of our leading interior decorators, Merlen Newcomer, with instructions to completely refinish it. I wish you could see it now. It is sinply beautiful.

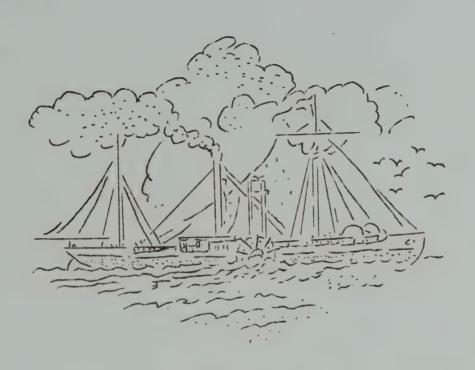

Don Turner, our most prominent dairyman, won the dairymen's contest that I told you was going to take place. He owns the largest dairy I believe I ever saw.

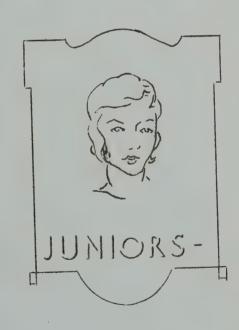

Thank you so much for telling me about your opera debute. You can bet I'll be there right on the spot.

Sincerely your friend,

Lena Tryers

He finds out he's engaged to the daughter the town's leading political boss. It is proven later on that this was part of the deal that made him Mayor. SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

In the year of 1935, our class entered the first year of High School with a class of 52. During the first year 8 of the 52 withdrew.

This year it was decreased to 38 and later one pupil withdrew.

We are planning to have only one class party this year, but we are sure it will prove very successful.

Miss Graham is our Class Sponsor.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

This class has been together since 1928. We have lost a few and gained some. Through the help of our teachers and the community we have worked our way through eight grades, earning the title of the green freshman class.

It was in the seventh grade that we really organized our class. We selected our class colors flower and motto at that time and we still have them.

Our boys won the Junior High Basketball Tournament, that was in the year 1936.

In the year of 1936 we also took a step into High School. We bought our pennant of black and orange to spur us onward through our four years of W.H.S.

Soils and Crops and Farm Management are being taught to the boys in vocational agriculture this year. Soils and Crops to the Freshmen and boys and Farm Management to the Junior and Seniors boys.

There are seventeen boys enrolled in the crops and soils class. They are taught the origin of soil: soil composition; classes and types; chemical composition of soils and its relation to plants and animals; soil organisms in relation to soil fertility; how rocks and climate affect soils, and etc. Along with this work they are required to carry two projects and keep record of their projects.

There are eight boys enrolled in the Farm Management class. They are taught the most efficient use of land labor and capital. They kept completed farm records so as to become familiar as to the purpose and value of farm records.

An agricultural organization known as the Future Farmers of America was organized this year. A charter, number 67. was granted to the chapter on November 23, 1936. The officers elected were as follows:

President———DeLoss Crooks Treasury————Harry Hefty Vice. Pres.———Bill Hollman Reporter————Ralph Bowman Secretary———George Friend Advisor————A. J. Dmith

COMMERCE DEPARTMENT

The Commerce Department this year consists of six classes, Business English, Consumers Economics, Shorthand, Typing, Bookkeeping and Commercial Law. Mr. Overmeyer having charge of Commercial Law, while Mr. Andrews has the other classes. The Commercial Department also has charge of the Trail Blazer, the school paper, and the annual.

There are eleven students enrolled in Business English. This is a very interesting subject where those in the class explore English in the light of business usage.

Shorthand class has only six students, who have learned to transcribe as well as take diction.

The Typing class consists of twenty-seven students, who have learned the fundementals of typing. The typing class has also done all the typing required for the school paper and the annual which were published this year.

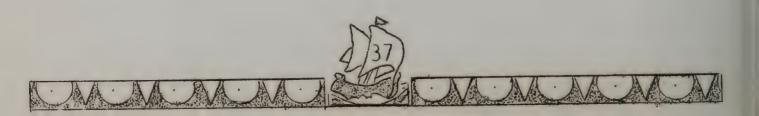

There are twenty-six students enrolled in the first year Bookkeeping class and one student who takes advanced Bookkeeping. They have learned the rudiments of Bookkeeping and Accounting and have perfected their knowledge by working with facimles of real business papers.

The students in Commercial Law have learned the use of many of the legal terms and papers.

Consumers Economics class had students who studied economics in the sense of a purchaser.

The school paper and the annual were published this year through the efforts of those enrolled in the Commercial Department under the supervision of Mr. Andrews. Neither one of the projects would have been possible without the new mimeograph machine which was purchased by the school board this year.
